Enjoy canoeing in Gesashi’s mangrove forest, the biggest of its kind on the main island of Okinawa!

The mangroves in Gesashi Bay are the most extensive on the main island of Okinawa, and the area has been designated a national protected habitat due to three of the four species of mangrove seaweed found in Okinawa being present, and also being the northernmost limit for the Kayaana Mangrove.

The downstream areas are the Higashi Village Mangrove Park, where you can see the Mangrove Observation Platform! And Hachijo-Fudono-Cho from the steets, and also enjoy canoeing on the river.

You can go Canoeing Here!
